LOUNGE SEMINAR

DEPARTMENT OF RELIGION
AT PRINCETON

Tuesday
November 28
4:30 PM

I JUDGE NO ONE
A Political Life of Jesus

DAVID LLOYD DUSENBURY

Why was Jesus, who said ‘I judge no one’, put to death for a political crime? Join author David Lloyd Dusenbury for a fascinating discussion of the four memoirs, or ‘gospels’, that were fashioned by early Christ-believers and collected in the New Testament, and how their interpretation through the centuries explains the highly political death of a deeply spiritual figure.

David Lloyd Dusenbury

Senior fellow at the Danube Institute, visiting professor at Eötvös Loránd University in Budapest

Department of Religion
Class of 1879 Hall
Religion Lounge - Room 140
https://religion.princeton.edu